

INSPIRO

Databases

Avantiq® is one of the leading providers of trademark and other IP-related data in the industry, continually adding to and updating our offerings.

Avantiq® databases

Developed and hosted by Avantiq®, these databases reflect our reputation for current content, quality and accuracy. Our data is licensed directly from local trademark and patent offices or, in some cases, from trusted law firms who have built local databases in cooperation with Avantiq.

All Goods & Services have been translated into English using two automatic translation systems which are matched against our proprietary library of Goods & Services in 11 languages. Although the Avantiq databases have automatically translated the Goods & Services into English, they still include the original native language description.

See below for Avantiq databases available as of 1 February 2009.

Free PTO databases

INSPIRO® allows you to search free PTO databases as easily as Avantiq's own databases, using the same search criteria. INSPIRO® connects to your selected PTOs, downloads the results, repackages them into a standardized format and brings the results back to your workplace.

Please note that INSPIRO's intuitive query search is not available in the free PTOs, and some restrictions may apply depending on the search capabilities available through each patent and trademark office.

See below for free PTO databases available as of 1 February 2009.

The Avantiq advantage

Avantiq® has specialized in trademark search services since 1986, and is a global provider of online and offline IP search products and services. Offices in Switzerland, Luxembourg, the United States, Australia and Japan guarantee some of the fastest turnaround times in the industry.

Superior data, superior technology

Avantiq® owns and maintains one of the largest collections of global trademark databases. All of the INSPIRO® technology is developed in-house and is continually upgraded.

Review outsourced work online

INSPIRO® uses an intuitive color-coding system to help you work most efficiently with your search results, allowing you to group, evaluate and further investigate the significance of the trademarks found.

INSPIRO's ExpertView™ compiles the essence of a full trademark document, allowing you to compare the critical components at a glance, and rate the risk accordingly.

When you order a search from Avantiq, our expert search analysts or associates pre-select risks according to the search parameters provided. Your results are returned with specific rankings, which you can further analyse and refine, moving documents between "piles" of high (red), medium (orange) or low (green) relevancy.

Using ExpertView®

4 Click to bookmark the trademark for easy reference from the legal opinion module, view any comments entered by other associates or search analysts

5 Cross-check the trademark name for consistency with any other identical or even similar names found

Using SmartTools®

Use INSPIRO® SmartTools™ to automate repetitive tasks, allowing you to rate the risk of each trademark using specific color codes. Ways to search

Exact and extensive wildcard searching

- Enter one or more trademark names to search simultaneously, and combine your search with multiple wildcard patterns in one step.
- Refine your search with wildcards (*, ?), vowel, consonant or digit substitutions (\v, \c, \d) and advanced dynamic patterns.
- Find special characters such as :-) or @. Never miss acronyms: IBM will find I.B.M. automatically.
- Non-Latin character searches return results that automatically include Latin transliterations. Additionally, any translations or transliterations provided by a PTO are included in your results.

Restrict your search to active marks or filter by owner, classes, goods and services or any other criteria.

Intelligent query search

Our proprietary intuitive query search system imitates the choices humans make by recognizing and comparing marks, automatically detecting phonetic and visual correspondences, anagrams, letter differences and vowel and consonant variations. Instruct intuitive query search to limit or extend the scope of your search.

Achieve superior search results by simultaneously combining exact and extensive wildcard searching with intuitive query search.

IQ Search

In addition to intuitive query search, INSPIRO® also includes Avantiq's established IQ Search, which automatically finds all phonetically similar marks. First submit the query by inputting the trademark, international classes and databases to be searched. Once your results are available, choose the download option to transfer all hits for further analysis.

Import external data

Seamlessly integrate search results from other sources, including other major search systems, into INSPIRO® for further refinement and reporting:

- Combine data from Avantiq® databases with other databases; view, sort and analyse them together
- Integrate any data from other sources by typing or copy-and-pasting into INSPIRO's customized form. Your data is permanently stored; it can be analysed with your other search results and included in professionally-formatted reports.
- Upload any Word document and integrate it into your final report as an attachment.

Review & analyse

Hit and document retrieval

Conduct as many variations as you want, use our intuitive query search, or combine both—be as thorough as you need to be.

INSPIRO® allows you to look at and print as many trademark names as you like—and view full logos—without incurring any costs. The only exceptions are the IMS Pharma In-Use and Domain Name files, where our providers require a charge to display the names.

Introduction 7 The mark appears to be inherently registrable. We are not aware of a bad connotation of the proposed mark. EDIT

Comment 1 2 4 COCOLAT is not yet subject to the use requirement (2009). The mark consists of the word COCOLAT device element. Visually, MOKOLAC and COCOLAT are quite different. The marks have the letter sequence "O-OLA", including the sequence of vowels in common. The same applies to the total number of letters and syllables. The marks are visually very different. There may be a certain aural similarity. The word element in the prior mark is very close to the word "chocolate", though. Thus, it does certainly have a very limited scope of protection. We do not think that the aural similarities would be regarded sufficient to constitute a risk of confusion. On balance, COCOLAT should not be an insurmountable bar. DELETE EDIT

	COCOLAT	Germany	CARTWRIGHT, DIANA	DE30456051	Registered (Rechtsbeständig)	DELETE	EDIT

Comment 2 6 3 MILKOLADE is a very old mark and subject to the use requirement. In the Internet we did not find any use of the mark (which is not necessarily conclusive evidence, however, that the mark is actually not in use). The marks have the elements "L-KOLA" in common. Visually, there is a certain similarity of the marks. On the other hand, the prior mark is clearly a fusion of the words "Milk" and "Schokolade" (the German word for chocolate). Thus, it signifies "milk chocolate". As such it is easily distinguishable from the proposed mark. Even if the prior mark were in use we would see good chances to successfully defend MOKOLAC against the prior mark. In case of a conflict the client should have the better chances of success.
